Westover Villas … 16 …. plus Meyrick Mansions

Unlike all the other Westover Villas, parts of number 16 were not demolished, but were incorporated into subsequent buildings – in this case the Meyrick Mansions Hotel building, which survives to this day. (The original number 16 Villa is on the left of course...)
Not the most elegant of 'incorporations' it has to be said!… Further developments of that 'top corner' site mean that any surviving parts of the original Villa are no longer visible – if indeed any parts do actually survive at all?
There is some evidence to suggest that there may have been plans for a 17th Villa, which was never built….
Maybe 'Meyrick Mansions' occupy the intended site of that 17th Villa?
